BROADWAY THEATER.

David Belasco's "The Girl of the Golden West."

"The Girl of the Golden West," David Belasco's wonderfully successful drama of California life in the days of '49, will be seen at the Broadway theater this evening.

"The Girl of the Golden West" is the production, issued from the Belasco studio that all New York audiences admired for two consecutive years at the Belasco theater in that city. "The Girl" is the heroine of a mining camp in the Sierra Nevada, and her presence exerts a sweet and powerful though peculiar influence upon the career of the little community. She owns and conducts the chief saloon of the settlement. Besides herself, the story has two characters of strength and prominence inferior only to that of "The Girl" herself. They are Jack Rance, the sheriff, and Ramerrez, alias Dick Johnson, the road agent. These two battle for the love of the girl; the one's weapons being the strength and determination that have elevated him to a dominating position over a set of men who respect only courage and resource, the other handicapped by his record of crime, possesses an almost irresistible fascination for the girl herself. The girl, a game of cards, and the boys who love her a figure in the denouement of the conflict, and the incidents and situations leading up to the climax of the story well deserve the description "stirring."

"The World and a Woman."

Probably it seldom, if ever, occurs to the ordinary spectators as he sits in the comfortable auditorium of a theater, more or less different from the scene environment provided for the play enacted upon the stage, that there is not one detail of this physical background, however insignificant it may appear at casual glance, that has not been as carefully planned and executed as the players themselves are rehearsed. Therefore, it naturally follows that most of the famous producers of plays possess the artistic temperament and are in full knowledge of artistic requirements. Several of them are artists, and among the latter a conspicuous place must be given Barl Burgess, who made elaborate sketches for every one of the many powerful scenes in Joseph Byron To-ten's remarkable play of contemporary American life, "The World and a Woman," which will be presented under his direction at the Broadway theater on Saturday, Sept. 11, and which had not Mr. Burgess elected for a career as a producer of high-class plays, he undoubtedly would have turned his attention to other fields of art, for he is wonderfully clever with the brush and mail stick, and the homes of several brother theatrical magazines are ornamented with his works in oil.

BREED THEATER.

Escaped from Andersonville, Great Feature Picture.

What is conceded to be one of the finest war pictures in the business is now being shown at the Breed theater, and the very interesting and truthful picture is entitled Escaped from Andersonville, being a revelation of the sufferings and final escape from the famous institution. A wonderful picture story of the clever tunneling to freedom, by the federals, shows one of the most thrilling scenes in the real, and under the watchful eye of the packing guard it becomes a seeming impossibility, and as the thrilling scene progresses the interest of the spectator increases, and when they have gained their freedom the impatient audience signifies their favor by liberal applause, and in the following scenes, where the prisoners confabulate a switching engine and appropriate it to their own use, to aid their escape, the interest does not lag a moment until the thrilling climax, when the Confederates attempt to blow up a bridge over which the prisoners are to pass.
They are nearly successful, but the explosion takes place just after the federals have passed over it, leaving an impassable gulch between the prisoners and the pursuing Confederates.
Many other fine films are also shown, as well as much excellent comedy.

Master Harry Noonan make a big hit with his pretty illustrated song, "My Prairie Song Bird," also with his concert song.

DANIELSON MUSIC HALL.

"The Final Settlement." The attraction at Danielson Music hall this evening will be "The Final Settlement," a drama in four acts by Lam H. Parker, which has never before been presented in Danielson. The play is very modern, and one does not have to think very hard to recall incidents chronicled in the papers of recent times that somehow border along the lines of the play. It deals with a man who started with nothing and became a millionaire and president of a great iron trust. He gets the society fever, and the woman who shared his adversity is no longer considered good enough for him, and he divorces her and casts her aside. Her place is taken by an actress, but even then the happiness he pictured to himself proves only a vision. In the end he is ruined and disgraced, and the one friend who comes to his rescue is the old wife of the past, who saves him from prison and starts him on the right road again. The story is well told, and the clever hand of the dramatist. During the past season the piece was one of the big successes on the big city line through the west, and this is its first season in eastern time.

TAXATION LAWS.

Many Changes Made by Legislature—Assessors to be Elected for Three Year Terms—Personal Tax Takes Place of Poll and Military Tax.

Several important changes have been made by the recent legislature in the laws governing local and state taxation and these have been summarized as follows by Tax Commissioner William H. Corbin: Non-Residents—The most important probably is the act requiring the election of three assessors, except in those towns now which elect or appoint their assessors in a similar manner under special act. In those towns holding annual elections the terms ultimately will be three years, one being elected each year. This does away with inequality of representation. An amendment extends the time from 20 to 60 days from November 1, when the assessors may sum up before sundown the person who has failed to hand in his list of taxable property.

"Two Acres." It has heretofore been customary to include land, not exceeding two acres, in the valuation of dwelling houses and other buildings.
The law has been changed so that all house or building lots must be listed and valued separately from the building thereon.

Non-Residents—It has been difficult for the assessors to secure proper information relative to the taxable property owned by non-residents. Hereafter all non-residents holding property in any town will be subject to the same provisions relative to filing lists.
Including the 10 per cent. addition for failure to hand in lists which now apply to residents. In addition, tangibly personal property of non-residents which is located in any one town seven months during any year will be liable to taxation in such town in the same manner as provided for the personal property of residents.

Personal Tax—After October 1, 1910, the present poll and military commutation tax will be abolished, and all male persons between the ages of 21 and 60 years will be liable for a personal tax of $2 each, subject to the same exemptions that now apply to poll and military commutation taxes.
This law also provides for adequate assistance in compiling the list of such persons and for the collection of the tax. The poll and military commutation tax will be levied and collected under the present statute during the coming year, with the exception that all reports of those liable for military commutation taxes will be made to the tax commissioner instead of to the adjutant general.

Exempted Property—Beginning with the grand list of October, 1909, and quadrantally thereafter, the assessors of all towns will be required to list and value all property exempted from taxation, and a report of the same will be made to the tax commissioner by the town clerk. The total amount of all such property in the state will be published in the report of the use of the next legislature in 1911.

State Tax—The most radical step, however, is the renewal of the state tax which was suspended in 1890, the rate being one-half mill on the grand list of the towns as corrected by the board of equalization for the years 1908 and 1909, and payable November 10, 1909 and 1910.

All of the above changes go into effect September 1.

CLINTON ALUMNI.

Raising Fund at Clinton for Memorial for Mrs. Mary Eliot.

The members of the Alumni association of Morgan school, Clinton, are sending out letters requesting all members of the association, students and friends of the school who were in any way associated with the late Mary C.
Eliot in her work in Morgan school to contribute to a fund to be known as the Mary C. Eliot fund, the income to be used in purchasing a medal, annually, which shall be given at the yearly commencement of the school, to the honorable student in room No. 1, or left to the discretion of the principal of the school, the idea being to perpetuate the memory of one who was connected with the school for so many years and beloved by the community.

SKIN ERUPTION CURED
Was So Sore, Irritating and Painful that Little Sufferer Could Not Sleep—Scratched Constantly.

CUTICURA'S EFFICACY PROVEN

"When about two and a half years old my daughter broke out on her hips and the upper parts of her legs with a very irritating and painful eruption. It began in October; the first I noticed was a little red surface and a constant itching on her part to scratch her limbs.
She could not sleep and the eruptions got sore, and yellow water came out of them. I had two doctors treat her, but she grew worse under their treatment.
Then I bought the Cuticura Remedies and only used them two weeks when she was entirely well. This was in February.
She has never had another rough place on her skin, and she is now fourteen years old. Mrs. R. R. Winchester, Winchester, Tenn., Sept. 22, 1908."
